The property has several factory buildings and chimneys. On a plate at the entrance is the inscription:

VVEB Installation Kabel Apparate,
Infrarotbuero Leipzig.

☐ Comment: The infrared office thus appears to belong to VVB IKA, which has its headquarters in Leipzig. It is interesting to note that the Central Office for Research and Technology (ZAF) Register of research offices in East Germany lists an "IKA Central Development Office, Berlin Sub-office, Berlin W8, Friedrichstrasse 167." This is concerned with "Research and development work in the field of industrial, medical and biological applications of infrared radiation!"
